

ALDERSGATE PILGRIM

Late Spring 2016

Do you remember?

Do you remember Closing when you answered the questions, “What my Walk to Emmaus has meant to me and what am I going to do about it?” How often do you think of your Walk? Did your Walk change you? Did you come home ready to lead your church and community and be the Christian Christ has called you to be? Were you on fire?

Well, now is the time for you to re-ignite that flame! Aldersgate Walk to Emmaus needs you. We need your prayers and support. Without our community, we would not exist so if you have stepped away from us, we want you back. We want you to recommit, reconnect, and remember how you felt at the end of your 72 hour walk.

Go to our Website at www.aldersgateemmaus.org and perhaps that will help spark you into action. Set up a profile.

There is always something you can do for your community.

First, prayers. The walks need to be lifted in prayer for both the team and the pilgrims.

Second, sponsor pilgrims for the Walk. God might have put in their heart that it's time to attend now.

Third, scholarship someone to attend the Walk. Donate what you can to help others have the amazing experience that you had on your walk.

Fourth, re-engage. Become part of a Reunion group, attend Gatherings, be on the board or take part in a team.

Fifth, mark your calendars support the weekends at Send-off, Candlelight and Closing. Being involved will stoke the flames you felt at the end of your walk as you continue to grow in Christ.

Are you still wondering what you can do? Did you remember?
I did.

Walk to Emmaus Inspires Orlando Artist to Create Mosaic

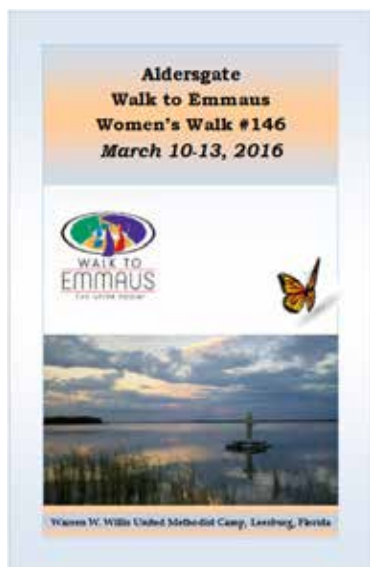

When Steve Holloway attended Aldersgate Walk to Emmaus #117, he had no idea the Walk would inspire him to create a mosaic he has titled “Meet Jesus on the Road”.

The design for the Mosaic came to the 73-year-old artist in a dream. “I got up right then and sketched it out on paper”, he recalls. “I believe it was the Holy Spirit at work. I’ve never had anything like that happen before.” His design depicts Emmaus in many ways. He wanted to show the feeling of excitement and joy. It had to be colorful to represent God’s diversity and yet show the simplicity of God’s creation.

Before retiring to Orlando, Holloway was an architect in Kansas City. He began making his mosaics in 2005 as a creative outlet for his retirement. He has now completed more than 50 one-of-a-kind pieces.

Volunteers Needed to Help Publish Weekend Booklets

Aldersgate Emmaus is searching for one or more people with some desktop publishing experience and an eye for design to join the team that produces the weekend Pilgrim booklets. These booklets are often kept for many years by Pilgrims as a remembrance of their Walk.

Susan Tracy has been doing a wonderful job with the booklets, but she is stepping down in the Fall. Terry McCorvie has agreed to spearhead the booklets, but wants help. Each Walk, pictures are taken and the booklets are printed during the weekend so they are ready for the Pilgrims by Sunday afternoon. If a few of us combine our time and talents, we can trade off tasks and weekends. Knowledge of Adobe InDesign or Microsoft Publisher is helpful, but not required. If you are interested, contact Terry at terrymccorvie@gmail.com or 407-616-6758.

◆ Did you know that Emmaus crosses can be worn anytime, anywhere? The only notes in the Upper Room manual ask that weekend team members not wear their crosses until the pilgrims receive theirs on Sunday. However, speakers may wear their crosses when giving a talk. That said, it's not a good idea for Emmaus members to wear their crosses to church every week.

◆ Did you know all Gatherings and Reunion groups are open to anyone? That's right. Attendees do not have to have gone through Emmaus or Chrysalis to attend a Gathering or be in a Reunion group. Yes Gatherings share some information about the weekends, but until someone experiences it, they will not fully understand. Gatherings are food, music, fellowship and praise. Reunion groups are small groups who share their experiences with God and others and who keep each other accountable.

Sponsorship Tip!

When sponsoring or explaining the Walk to Emmaus to potential Pilgrims, you can share everything about the weekend! We do not want to hide anything. Share what you want. Even if you tell them about a cool candlelight service, they still won't know what it really is until they experience it for themselves.

Try to encourage them to just experience the walk as it happens, "Don't Anticipate. Let God share His Grace this weekend with you."

A Pastor's Perspective on Emmaus

By Kris Schonewolf, Pastor
Belleview United Methodist Church

I went on Chesapeake WTE #12A in Lewes Delaware, April of 1999, four months after becoming a born-again follower of Jesus Christ. Three years later while serving as a musician on a Chrysalis flight, God called me into ordained ministry through a vision while praying at the altar during candlelight. Fast forward past finishing college and completing seminary, and I was appointed as the pastor at Ewell's-St. Paul UMC in Clayton Delaware in July 2009.

I was the "last resort" before the church would probably close its doors. After going through 8 pastors in 12 years, the congregation had dwindled down to about 25-40 people in worship, mostly "grey heads" as the DS described it to me, and very little ministry was happening. Since it was my first appointment, and I had only been saved 10 years prior, I didn't know much about being a pastor. But one thing I did know is that I had seen dozens of people at my home church become re-energized, called into all types of lay and ordained ministries, find salvation or reassurance of salvation, and come away with a sense of God's love as they had never known through this Emmaus weekend.

And if there was one thing this church needed, it was a powerful inoculation of God's love.

So, what does a pastor do? Start talking to people about attending the Walk to Emmaus! That first Fall I was only able to convince one single mother who was on the fringes of our congregation to attend; certainly none of the "establishment" would step out into something unknown such as this. But by the time I moved to Florida 6 years later, about 50 people (including most of the "establishment") had attended. The church's attendance ballooned from 40 to 160, and ministries multiplied. The church's reputation went from "oh, you would never want to go there..." to "that's the church that's always out in the community blessing people."

By coupling the results of the Emmaus experience with a very active practice of Servant Evangelism (servantevangelism.com), the fire of Christ's love had spread like wildfire throughout our congregation and our community. It was very hard to leave my first church, but God had called us to a new state and a new church —Belleview UMC!

Unlike my first church, Belleview was already an incredibly active and vital congregation with ministries everywhere I looked! But what better way to re-energize current leaders and groom new leaders than to give them an experience of the overpowering love of God and the opportunity to hear God calling them into a ministry custom made for their gifts and passions. SO I started asking! The first fall we had four people attend (because the weekends were already mostly full), but this spring between the men's and the two women's walks, we have 17 pilgrims attending.

Seeking the Clergy

By Wayne Cook, Pastor
First United Methodist | Kissimmee
Spiritual Director | Aldersgate Emmaus

Greetings to you all this fine day. First I want to say thank you for the many ways in which you all support Emmaus, if I may be so bold, and United Methodist, as to say with your prayers, presence, gifts, service and witness.

I know personally the difference the Walk to Emmaus has made in the lives for so many people and in the life of so many congregations. For me as a Pastor it is amazing and refreshing to see lay people lead in the church and help others grow in their spiritual journey. I think we all need to be reminded more often that we are all called to be disciples of Christ and beyond that we are called to be a "Royal Priesthood" (1Peter 2:9). What we do through the Walks are life changing. Now on to the part where I ask you once again to do something for Emmaus.

As many of you know we have a list of Clergy who have participated in the Walks on the website but that list is woefully deficient. There is this pesky thing in the Church called changing pastors, whether through itinerancy in the UMC or a call in other congregations so the list is constantly changing. I need your help in making our list as complete as possible. I am asking that you contact me if you are a Clergy person who has been a part of the Emmaus movement or let me know of pastors you know who have been a part of the movement so we can get them on the list.

I believe Emmaus is a movement of the Holy Spirit that will build the kingdom in this place and the Spirit is calling us to be co-builders in the movement.

I pray the Lord's blessings on you all. DeColores!

Christmas House Planning

Christmas House is an annual fund raiser for Aldersgate Emmaus and Chrysalis scholarships. It was originally started by the East Orange Community but is now run by the South Lake Community. It takes place on the campus of First United Methodist Church Clermont.

All members of the Aldersgate community are invited to participate in Christmas House. We welcome volunteers to work on decorating the day before, participating in the house activities the day of or even helping with clean-up when it is done. We can also use donations of items/ gift cards/services for the raffle baskets and crafts for the boutique. Christmas crafts are an especially big seller.

Christmas House is an excellent opportunity to connect with the community on Saturday, December 3 coinciding with the Clermont Christmas Parade.

His newest creation depicts the Road to Emmaus as a straight horizontal line flowing through the piece, with Jesus dressed in white between His two followers. Holloway says the "road" represents our faith journey through life. "People do encounter Jesus on their Walk to Emmaus — some of them for the first time." Holloway said.

ABOVE: It takes Holloway about 100 hours to meticulously handcraft each mosaic, cutting and clipping each colorful ceramic chip into the right shape and placing it on his "canvas".

Holloway says the most important part of the Walk to him is the call we receive to serve God during our fourth day experience. "The circles that flow out of the rainbow represent each of us as we go out into the world serving God," he said.

Sharing his God-given talent through his inspiring mosaics is one way Holloway is living out his Fourth Day.

The Chrysalis Challenge

Lay Directors Reflect the March Walks

By Douglas Ralph, Lay Director

Aldersgate Men's Emmaus Walk #146

I want to take a moment for one last reflection on Men's Walk #146. The speakers were so amazing. It was so encouraging to hear how God has worked in the lives of real people through their real pain, brokenness and victories. I wish I could have bottled some of those stories up and carried them with me, because even though there were many notes taken sometimes they are just not enough.

The community that was built during the weekend, and the community that will hopefully continue to grow is just one example of God building and strengthening the Christian leadership. It was so great to spend time with real men, sharing wisdom, laughter, struggles, tears, and just being men.

There were a few quiet moments where we were able to spend one on one time with our Father, even though it was hard to find those moments, it was then that I witnessed God working in all of our lives. He really spoke truth and love into our hearts.

The people who served in the background. You all are truly awesome and I am so thankful for how you all emptied yourselves (and are always emptying yourselves) to serve people who you don't even know. I was truly blessed to have been called leader of such an incredible weekend.

From my vantage point, I must tell you that as a team, we made it possible for our Lord to make a huge difference in a number of men's lives. This all came about because of your willingness to be used as tools of our Lord and Savior. Your surrender to His will became the impetus of life change for all of these men. Through you, God made restoration possible for those who were reluctantly seeking it. Your efforts made it possible for men, pilgrims and team alike, to come to a place where we could let go of some burdensome baggage.

I shall always remember the men of Emmaus Walk #146. May all of your 4th days be filled with all that life has to offer.

God Bless.

By Joline Kroticki, Lay Director

Aldersgate Emmaus Women's Walk #146

It's seven miles from Jerusalem to Emmaus and one long trek from Angel to Lay Director, but both end with an encounter with the risen Lord!

Like Cleopas and the unnamed one, I didn't immediately recognize Jesus on the journey. Confronted with team and pilgrim shifts, I wondered if the road could get any bumpier. I struggled as news of change came in daily emails. How would I ever develop any sense of team unity? And then, the joy came.

Being surrounded by experienced team members kept me grounded. Seeing the eyes of the excited newcomers lifted my spirit and we moved through the team prep meetings singing Joy to the World. We knew what was coming.

Send off included the apprehension and the knowing smiles. We stepped out of the opening gathering, headed for the conference room and began. Talks were given, notes were taken, prayers were offered, and lives were changed.

Never have I seen a group of pilgrims bond so quickly. Never have I seen a team move through the schedule so smoothly or demonstrate such tenderness. Team members said they had never experienced a weekend without distractions or disturbances; pilgrims affirmed in closing that it had been a time of incredible joy! One woman was headed in to ministry, several identified areas of service to enter, and most said they had never felt such love before. Jesus was clearly visible on their faces!

The structure of the weekends never changes, but lives do. I have a sense of great peace, knowing that I was privileged to serve such wonderful women in the company of a blessed team of sisters and friends all full of the joy of the Lord.

A Pastor's Perspective

The fact that the church has a trust fund that we've been able to tap into for sponsorships until the community gets some financial bearings has been very helpful. Many of those who attended shared at their closing service that their energy and sense of purpose had waned, but that the weekend gave them renewed hope and purpose and a renewed excitement and energy for ministry.

I will continue to use the Emmaus experience as a powerful tool to help people grow in their relationship with Jesus, because a deeper walk with Christ always translates to greater service and commitment to the Body of Christ. The Walk to Emmaus is a pastor's best friend!

Christian Action – in Action!

By Susan Tracy

Board Representative - Seminole County

Little did I know when I signed-up at church to take a six-week study on the book Heaven, God was preparing me to walk with my dear friend Donna through her final three months on this earth. My friend Donna was never married, never had children, and had no family members living in Florida. What my friend Donna did have was a church family and lots of Christian friends, and what I witnessed from that church family and from those friends during Donna's last three months on this earth was Christian action – in action!

A member of Donna's small group at her church went with her to every doctor's appointment so that she wouldn't have to be alone and to take notes on what the doctor's said to her. Every time I visited Donna at the hospital and eventually at hospice, someone from her church family, or one or more of her Christian friends were there. When Donna closed her eyes and went to heaven, her church family and friends were there, singing hymns and praying her into glory.

As I walked through this end of life journey with my friend, and as I walked through the halls of the nursing home and the hospice care facility, my heart ached for the people that I knew were lying in those rooms and sitting in those hallways who had no church family and no Christian friends. My heart ached for the people who laid there thirsty and had no one to hold a cup of cold water up to their lips. And my heart ached for the people who had no one sitting there praying with them and assuring them that whether they were healed, or whether they went to heaven to be with Jesus – it was a win-win for them! This journey opened my eyes and my heart to a mission field that does not require a passport, does not cost thousands of dollars for airfare and accommodations, and does not require using vacation days from work – it is a mission field that is in our own backyards.

My friend Donna's memorial service was held at her church and not one person from her biological family was able to attend. However, the room was filled with her church family and her Christian friends who all came to remember and honor a dear sister in Christ.

Matthew 25:35-36

³⁵ For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, ³⁶ I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me.'
